VOLCANOES.

Outbreak of Subterranean Fires Can Be Counted on to Occur with Considerable Regularity.

Mount Vesuvius was active again last month, after a long period of internal rumblings, but its activity was neither strange nor unexpected. Although not in a state of continual eruption, this volcano pours forth lava with unusual frequency. Its most disastrous eruption was rivaled last year by the explosion of Mont Pelee in Martinique. Within twelve months Stromboli, in Sicily, Santa Maria in Guatemala; Colima in Mexico, and less known volcanoes in Samoa and other parts of the world have been active.

The outbreak of the subterranean fires, says the Youth's Companion, can be counted on to occur with considerable regularity. Year in and year out the newspapers will contain just about so many reports of volcanic life; just as, one century with another, the number of disasters from flood and storm will average the same, shipwrecks will recur with unchanging frequency, and crimes of violence will repeat them. selves with substantial uniformity.

To the student of statistics the round of repetition seems to go on unceasingly, this year repeating last year, and so on back to the beginning. But as Howells has well said in one of his wise and philosophic poems, the round is spiral and each year finds the human family a little higher in its struggle upward, even though the phenomena of inanimate nature may persist with apparently unvarying regularity.

TEMPLE IN JAPAN.

Some Are Sacred to the Spirits of Dead Children-Visited Mostly by Bereaved Mothers.

There are many peculiar temples throughout Japan, those sacred to the spirits of dead children being, perhaps, as odd as any. These temples are mostly visited by sad mothers. One of these at Kioto, says an exchange, contains hundreds of small wooden Buddhas, arranged on shelves, sloping back, row upon row, and covered with the baby clothes of infants who have died under a year old. At Osaka is another of these children's temples. Here, too, are hung everywhere children's clothes offered by the

A priest sitting on a mat gives the bereaved mother, for a fee, a shaving of wood with the name of the dead child written on it. This she takes to another shrine, where is a pool of water issuing from the mouth of a colossal stone tortoise. The pool is full of these shavings. They are cast into it just where the water pours in from the tortoise's mouth, and happy the woman whose chip gets well soaked at once. It is believed that this will insure the child an easy passage to Heaven, as the water carries the names to Buddha, who at once calls for them as he reads them.

Buying a Home in Denmark. Any sober, reliable farm laborer in Denmark, who has saved one-tenth the mortgage value of the little farm he covets-this value not to exceed $1,100can buy the land by borrowing the other nine-tenths from a government fund. He gives a mortgage on which he pays three per cent. After five years he also pays one per cent. additional toward wiping out half his debt. When this half has been paid he pays 31/2 per cent. on the remainder until he owns the land. A cooperative dairy buys his cream and returns to him the skimmed milk for his hogs. The latter go to the cooperative bacon factory, and the local branch of a convarative egg exporting house receives nis eggs.

The Grape Cure.

The grape cure at Wiesbaden has for a long time been an important feature of the autumn season at that famous health resort. The worth of the cure dies in the high per cent. of sugar in the fruit, grapes being from 24 to 50 per cent. sugar, with important elements of

PUZZLES THE WISEST MEN.

Why the Intestines Do Not Digest Themselves Is a Problem-Conclusions of One Scientist.

The digestive tube is filled with ferments capable of attacking, of destroying and of transforming the food with which they come in contact, but these ferments attack neither the walls of the intestines nor the parasites which often live in abundance on these walls, says Public Opinion. What causes this condition? The question has often been discussed and now the researches of M. E. Weinland on the tryptic ferment again bring the matter forward.

In 1891 Frenzel stated that he believed the protection enjoyed by the intestines was due to the antiferments which are secreted by the living tissues. An experiment of M. Weinland along this line is very interesting. A mixture was made of fibrine and of trypsine or of pepsin and the whole was placed to digest after a little juice of ascaris was added. No digestion occurred. The experiment may be prolonged indefinitely, but the ferment does not attack the fibrine when the anti-ferment is present. Thus it is not the living tissues which resist digestion, but the juices which impregnate them and which they tinued before many seasons have secrete.

"Indoor warmth, intensified by stove fires, often approaches the horrors of the Calcutta black hole, or the swelter den of Dante's 'Inferno;' and to that combination of discomforts civilized men doom their sisters and mothers. In midsummer the sunstroke wards of New England hospitals are crowded with male patients, who often have worked only on the shady side of the streets, and with a still larger number of women, who cannot plead guilty to outdoor imprudence of any kind. They have been overcome by the heat, and in nine out of ten cases by the afternoon heat of ill ventilated kitchens and washrooms, dining-rooms and nurseries, by vitiated air cooperating with the exhausting effects of a high temperature, at a time when the resisting ability of the system was impaired by the exigencies of digestion. In other words, sunstrokes and all their premonitory symptoms are the effects of hard after-dinner work in warm weath-

NO MORE BLACK DIAMONDS.

Supply Still Exists, But Electrically Manufactured Article Has Entirely Replaced Them.

The trade in carbonado, or Brazilian black diamonds, which, so late as five years ago, was worth nearly $4,000,000 a year, is at present practically dead.

These stones, first discovered in 1843, are a kind of black, opaque and imperfectly crystallized diamond, found only in Brazil. They are less dense than the white diamond, but actually harder, and were found of immense value for mounting in the steel crowns of rockboring drills.

It was the electric furnace, worked by the tremendous water power of Niagara, which put an end to the carbonado trade, says Stray Stories. A mixture of sand, coke, sawdust and salt melted together | charge at all for those seats." in this amazing heat resulted in the

THE MODERN INDIAN.

Charges White Man an Admission Fe if He Wants to See Moki Snake Dance.

The Indians are rapidly "catching on" to the ways of the white man. The Moki snake dance for 1903 at Wolpi, Arizona, on the Santa Fe, is a good example of how the modern commercial spirit is spreading. Until now visitors have been permitted to witness this spectacle without money and without price, the Indians being content with what they could pick up from the camera fiends for posing, and from the tourists generally for baskets, pottery was charged a dollar, with a sliding scale of special favors like going down into the kiva where the snakes are kept. and the spectators more than got the worth of their money; but the old-timers sadly viewed the change and predict that the dance will be disconpassed. You would better go to the next one, or it may be too late to see this most remarkable pagan ceremony.

The Santa Fe has on exhibition in its Chicago office a notable painting by Cross of a snake dancer, based on a sketch made by him while in Mokiland in 1858. The difference between then and to-day is quite evident in minor pressive than outdoor heat," writes Dr. details of costume; but the main features are much the same.

ALL DUE TO PHOTOGRAPHY.

How the Art Has Very Curiously Worked Injury to the Trade in Commercial Fertilizers.

The idea that the spread of photography could do severe injury to the trade in commercial fertilizers, and especially to the conversion of raw phosphate into plant food, seems at first sight absurd.

Yet so it is, and in this way, says Stray Stories. Phosphates and bones, to be made available as soil improvers, must be treated with sulphuric acid. Now, sulphuric acid will dissolve most metals as easily as water does sugar. Platinum is almost the only metal upon which it has no effect.

So, in spite of their great cost, manufacturers have generally employed retorts made of a platinum alloy for the concentration of sulphuric acid. These retorts used to be made in Paris and cost $8,500 to $13,000 apiece.

To-day such a thing as a platinum retort would cost literally a fortune, for platinum, owing to the introduction of the platinotype process in photography, has gone up from about five dollars an ounce to the present price of $20 an ounce. It is indeed nearly as costly as

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

'The Henderson Route" - Always First

The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort in travel for its patrons which is now being offered by that most popular railroad, the "Henderson Route," which road has been rightly termed the "Kentuckian's Official Route to the West and Southwest."

It has just been announced from the general office of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway that they now have in service on their night trains between Louisville and St. Louis, Free Reclining Chair Cars, which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are strictly up-to-date, firstclass "palaces of travel" on wheels, and this is only one of the many surprises which are promised the public for the World's Fair travel by the Henderson

Recognizing the great demand for Tailored Suits this season we have pre--George R. Bell and John N. Davis pared ourselves with an enormous stock. The result has been a tremendous business. We now find ourselves with a broken assortment of sizes which we want to clear out in order to make room for Coats and Outer Wraps. The number of Suits offered in this sale is not very large and we would advise those who wish to get a first-class Suit at a big reduction in price to be on hand early.

Grand Foliday Opening Friday, Nov. 27th.

> Sensible, far-seeing people begin their Christmas Shopping early so as to avoid the great crowds and secure the first pick of the Holiday Goods. It's hard to get just what you want when the stores are thronged with eager buyers, and harder still for any store to satisfy the exacting demands made upon it. We therefore recommend early purchases as likely to be the most satisfactory from every point of view.

To sensitive persons, says the Youth's Companion, the numbers are appalling, and the sights in the baggage cars would be still more repugnant. The carcases of deer and of an occasional moose are piled one above another almost to the roof, and among them are many does and fawns. Yet before the passage of adequate game laws the conditions were worse. Deer were shipped by the schooner load from Maine to Boston, and birds by the barrel. There are still too many-far too many-killed, but the number is lessening.

Nature study in the schools and the manufacture of good cameras, which can be sold at a low price, have done much to protect the lives of animals. Those stories of the woods which give wild animals the attributes and feelings of human beings may be, doubtless are, poor science but they are not had morals. They do at least foster sympathy and encourage an altruistic imagination. To know the woodchuck intimately robs one of the desire to make a target of him, and a stump or an empty can does duty instead. The camera gratifies that love of the chase which is inherent in healthy young boys and men, and fosters it without the pain of killing.

In 30 years 1,391,076 Italians have come to this country. This immigration has a very peculiar character. Until 1890 the percentage of women was less than 15, but now it has increased to 39. This indicates that the immigration has a marked tendency to become permanent.

These facts are naturally of interest to manufacturers of well-boring plants, who are already doing a considerable business with South Africa, and who may expect to see that business multiplied many times over during the next few years. During 1898, 1899 and 1900 applications for the use of Cape government drills averaged about 500 annually, and at present, so largely have these applications increased, no fewer than half a hundred drills are in constant operation, and the government is said to have booked sufficient work to keep the existing plant fully occupied for at least three years, and further applications will therefore have to be met by large increases of plant, and by extensive private enterprise in the same direrection.

It is even possible that, if the good resuits could have been anticipated, the law would have passed the chambers by a unanimous vote, instead of by 319 to 174. As a rule, women lawyers have had men as their opponents at the bar. and one could imagine himself in a sort of judicial salon, if compliments and gallant speeches were the criterion.

But the other day two women lawvers found themselves antagonists in a case. It was funny to see the embarrassment of the judges, for each lawyer did her best to captivate the bench. Unhappily the bench could not get out of the scrape by awarding the victory to both sides, so the chivalrous judges took refuge under a well-known formula and reserved their decision for a fortnight.

But the fact remains, and its significance may be inferred from the experience of the Mediterranean coast lands, where thousands of god gardens have been turned into Gehennas of wretchedness and desolation. SECRET OF RADIUM HEAT.

Lord Kelvin Suggests It May Be Sup- None But Trained Engineers Should plied by Ethereal Waves-Illustrates His Theory.

What Prof. C. V. Boys termed "the miracle of radium" has naturally received much attention in London scientific circles. At a recent meeting of the science branch of the British association Lord Kelvin, in a paper which he read, made an interesting suggestion in connection with its perpetual emission of heat at, according to M. Curie's calculation, a rate of about 90 centigrade calorics per gramme per hour.

He said that if the emission of heat at this rate went on for 10,000 hours there would be as much heat as would raise the temperature of 900,000 grammes of water one degree centigrade. It seemed utterly impossible to Lord Kelvin that this would come from the store of energy lost out of a gramme of radium in 10,000 hours.

It seemed, therefore, absolutely certain that the energy must somehow be supplied from without. He suggested that ethereal waves might in some way supply energy to radium while it was emitting heat to matter around it.

Lord Kelvin illustrated his theory by the following comparison: Suppose a piece of white and a piece of black cloth, hermetically sealed in similar glass cases, were submerged in similar glass vessels of water and exposed to the sun. ever, and the township generally pays The water in the vessel containing the black cloth would be kept very sensibly warmer than that containing the white cloth.

This is not much to be wondered at, for St. Kilda is one of the most inaccessible islands in the world -only four times a year, once a month in June, July, August and September, does a steamer call from Glasgow. For the rest of the year the inhabitants are entirely cut off from the outer world. Their special mail is in a tin box, into which they put letters, toss it into the sea and trust to Providence and favorable winds to carry it to the shores of the outer Hebrides. The population of the island has gradually dwindled to 75. The last time there was a great exodus was when 36 islanders left in a search for gold in Australia.

There are usually a good many rival candidates for the office of road comof mechanical engineering or of roadmaking is required of these candidates, and the citizens usually consider themselves fortunate if the position is held by a fairly intelligent man of energy and good intentions. He has to learn as he goes along, howdearly for his education. The "awful" country roads of the country have been the subject of a great deal of unfavorable criticism on the part of foreign visitors, and the loss sustained through the difficulty and sometimes suspension of traffic by reason supposed this was one of the irremedial drawbacks of a new country, as land values are not high enough to turnpikes. However, engineers have been turning their attention to the matter, and now tell us that good a question of knowing how, and that the money expended for road improvements which are not directed by skill and intelligence is money thrown away. AMUSEMENTS.

-There is much to recommend in the performance of "The Little Christian," which will be given in this city shortly by Charles H. Clarke's excellent company, not the least of which is the fact that it was one of the most delighful performances and successes in

It was a production that was given he earnest personal attention of that wizard of stage craft, Mr. Clarke, for months, and it will be seen here with all the freshness and beauty of its Boston performance.

-John Griffith, the eminent young actor, appears at the Grand on Nov. 25th, in a grand electrical and spectacular production of "Macbeth." The supporting company is an excellent one, and the special scenery and effects are used exclusively by Mr. Griffith for this performance.

-The attraction at the Lexington Opera House for Thanksgiving day, matinee and night, will be one of extraordinary importance, that of Viola Allen, in "The Twelfth Night." Mis Allen, this season, is under her own management and has one of the most complete and mafinificent Shakespearean productions ever seen in this country. Her company is an excellent one and in her new venture she has made the artistic success of her career.
